

Ayla's AI Agent Team

A team of 6 AI agents that automate the repetitive parts of real estate — market research, lead generation, contract review, content creation, client intelligence, and client communication — so you can focus on relationships and closing deals.

The Problem

Real estate agents spend 60-70% of their time on tasks that don't directly generate revenue — researching neighborhoods, writing listing descriptions, drafting emails, posting on social media, tracking down client info, and reviewing contracts for compliance issues.

What if 6 AI agents handled all of that automatically — and you just reviewed the output every morning over coffee?

That's what this system does. Each agent specializes in one area, runs overnight or on-demand, and delivers polished work for your review. You stay in control. They do the legwork.

Ted

 MARKET RESEARCH

WHAT TED DOES

Ted is your research brain. Give him a neighborhood, a zip code, or a listing address and he pulls together a comprehensive market brief — comparable sales, median prices, school ratings, walkability scores, days on market trends, and demographic data.

He runs before every showing, every listing appointment, and every client meeting. You walk in knowing more about the area than anyone in the room.

Barney

 LEAD GENERATION & SALES

WHAT BARNEY DOES

Barney finds leads and writes the first-touch outreach. He scrapes public business directories, identifies potential sellers based on property and ownership data, and drafts personalized cold emails that don't sound like AI wrote them.

Every email gets scored before it sends. If it sounds robotic, Barney rewrites it. He also tracks open rates and reply patterns so the outreach improves over time.

Marshall

 CONTRACTS & COMPLIANCE

WHAT MARSHALL DOES

Marshall reviews contracts, flags missing clauses, checks compliance with state-specific regulations, and summarizes key terms so you never miss a deadline or a red flag. He knows TREC rules, buyer representation requirements, and standard contract language.

He doesn't replace your broker's review — he makes sure nothing gets to your broker that shouldn't. Think of him as your first-pass legal filter.

Robin

 CONTENT & SOCIAL MEDIA

WHAT ROBIN DOES

Robin writes your TikTok scripts, Instagram captions, listing descriptions, and LinkedIn posts — all in your voice, not generic AI voice. She's trained on your actual posting style, your audience's engagement data, and what content performs best in your market.

She also outputs CapCut editing instructions for video content so your workflow is: film → paste Robin's instructions into CapCut → publish.

Lily

 CLIENT INTELLIGENCE

WHAT LILY DOES

Lily builds a profile on every lead and client before you ever pick up the phone. She scrapes public social media, finds their interests, identifies mutual connections, and surfaces details that help you personalize every conversation.

Before a listing appointment: Lily tells you the seller follows 3 interior design accounts and just posted about downsizing. Before a buyer meeting: Lily tells you they've been liking posts about a specific neighborhood for 6 months. That's the intel that wins business.

The Mother

 CLIENT COMMUNICATION

WHAT THE MOTHER DOES

The Mother handles the communication layer — she drafts replies to client emails, writes follow-up texts after showings, sends check-in messages at the right intervals, and manages your drip sequences for long-term nurturing.

Every message is drafted in your voice and queued for your approval. She never sends anything without your sign-off. But she makes sure you never forget to follow up, never lose a lead to silence, and never spend 45 minutes writing one email.

How It Works Together

daily flow

New Lead Comes In

BARNEY finds them → LILY researches them

Barney identifies the lead through outreach or an inbound inquiry. Lily immediately builds a profile — who they are, what they care about, what they've been posting about.

First Contact

THE MOTHER drafts the outreach → you approve and send

The Mother writes a personalized first-touch email using Lily's intel. It references something specific about the client — not a template. You review it, tweak if needed, and hit send.

Showing / Listing Prep

TED briefs you on the market → MARSHALL checks compliance

Ted generates a neighborhood brief with comps, trends, and data. Marshall reviews any contracts or documents and flags issues. You walk into the meeting fully prepared.

Content Creation

ROBIN writes the script → you film → Robin writes the edit brief

Robin scripts your TikTok, writes the caption, and gives you CapCut editing instructions. You film for 2 minutes, paste the instructions, and publish. She also writes listing descriptions and social posts.

Follow-Up & Nurture

THE MOTHER sends follow-ups → BARNEY tracks engagement

After every showing, every call, every interaction — The Mother drafts the right follow-up at the right time. Barney tracks who opened, who replied, and who needs a second touch.

Every Morning

ALL AGENTS report → you get a single briefing

Every morning you get one briefing: leads generated, emails drafted, content ready, contracts reviewed, market updates. You spend 15 minutes reviewing and approving. That's it.

You stay in control. Every agent drafts — you approve. Nothing sends, publishes, or submits without your sign-off. The agents handle the 70% of work that doesn't require your face, your voice, or your judgment. The other 30% — the relationship building, the negotiations, the human moments — that's still yours.
